Wequetonsing, Aug. 9.—The most important social event so far this senson of this resort was the reception given Weinesday afternoon by Mr. and Mrs. Lelwyn C. Edgar, Sr., at their cottage, "Cherryvale." This is the first entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Edgar have done, and the function was pronounced by all one of the most derightful We-que has ever enjoyed Mrs. Edgar received, assisted by their daughters, Mrs. Horace Dyer of St. Louis and Mrs. Charles Gates of Chicago. Mrs. Edgar was gowned in an imported robe of rich green crepe de Chine, trimmed in duchesse and point lace. Mrs. Dyer wore cream-colored lace over white silk, made with garniture of black velvet. Mrs. Gates was in pink crepe de Chine, over a darker shade of pink silk, appilqued in lace, with elaborate diamond ornaments.

The cottage, despite its roominess, was crowded during the hours of the "tea."

The decorations consisted of huge bunches of sweet peas of many colors, arranged in large vases in artistic nocks and corners. The majority of the guests were St. Louisans.

STRIKES SCALPERS HARD. Recent Decision of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL REPUBLIC SPECIAL.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. II.—A copy of the recent decision of the Superior Court of Fennsylvania affirming the constitutionality of the Pennsylvania statute for the protection of travelers has been issued in pamphlet form by the passenger department of the Pennsylvania Rallroad. This decision is regarded as an important one by the railroad men, and its effect is said to secure to the railroads under the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania law the exclusive sale of their tickets. This is considered a severe blow to ticket scalpers. The decision contains some points of interest to the traveling public

Pennsylvania law the exclusive sale of their tickets. This is considered a severe blow to ticket scalpers. The decision contains some points of interest to the traveling public. Among them are the following:

"It seems unnecessary to rehearse the reasoning by which the courts have been led to an almost unanimous conclusion that acts of the character of that before us are not violative of constitutional inhibition, but are within the police power of the State. The reasoning runs in all of the cares along the same lines.

"The act does not impair 'the obligation of contracts,' since the contracts alleged to be affected by the act had no existence until nearly forty years after its passage. The act does not violate the constitutional provision respecting interstate commerce. It is not an attempt to make a rule affecting interstate commerce. It is not an attempt to make a rule affecting interstate commerce. It is a police regulation affecting the person and conduct of those attempting to do certain acts which have been forbidden under penalty. The act is not in violation of the provisions of the Fourteenth Amendment. The act does not abridge any privilege or right secured to citizens, either by the Constitution of the United States or by that of the Commonwealth; nor does it deprive any of property without due process of law. It does not deprive the holder of a railroad ticket of the unused portion of it. it regulates the sale and requires the company issuing to buy.

"The regulation may in some cases result in the holder receiving less than would be paid by an individual buyer On the other hand, the act gives to the holder of an unsalable, unused portion of a ticket a customer in the company issuing it. The purchaser of a railroad ticket takes it subject to such reasonable restrictions as the law may impose upon the public business of the carrier.

"The purpose of the act is to prevent fraud. It is recited in the preamble that, Whereas, numerous frauds have been practiced upon the unsuspecting travelers by means of the sale of unauthorized persons of railway and other tickets. The appellant is not in the position of one innocently selling an unused portion of a ticket bought in good faith. He is confessedly conducting a business at which the act of the Assembly directly strikes and which the Legislature said is prolific of fraudulent results. The appellant is not deprived of any property of which he is honestly the owner, nor is he prevented from prosecuting a business of a kind recognized by the law as respectable. The privileges and immunities protected by the Constitution are subject to such restraints as the Government ject to such restraints as the Gover may prescribe for the general good of the whole people. The appellant has, therefore, no right to complain of the restriction put upon his business, which has been stigmatized as conductive to fraudulent acts and

The Blees Military Academy is a mile south of Macon. Mo., which is only figure miles northwest of St. Louis, Magnetic avery pretty town of 6,000 inhabitants, who are very cordial to the cadets. The academy grounds are beautifully kept, and, being located on one of the highest plateaus missourl, they command a fine view of the entire surrounding country.

There are 161 acres in the acutemy grounds proper, and there is a large tract of land adjacent to it which is utilized by the cadets, called the Blees place, having an area of about 600 acres. There is plenty of breathing space for the cadets. Holstein cattle graze upon the tract, and vegetables are raised upon it. The place is intersected by a series of well-kept roads, and there are several artificial lakes.

Upon the academy grounds proper there are eight large buildings. Of course, the principal ones are the Academy Hall, which is a four-story, fire-proof, buff-colored brick building, with a frontage of 224 teet. It has spacious messrooms, s.eeping apartments and study halls, and its interior is one of the most comfortable in aspect of any of its kind in the country.

Health in her beaming eyes, health in her glowing cheek, health in her merry laugh. Yet country air and country hours can't save her from the common experience of women—an experience which dulls the eye, pales the cheek, and turns the laugh to a sigh. Womanly ills come to almost all. But for these ills there is help and healing in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It regulates the periods, stops unhealthy drains, cures inflammation, ulceration and female weakness. It makes weak women strong, sick women well.

"Miss Ella Sapp, of Jamestown, Guilford Co., N. C., writes: "I had suffered three years or more at monthly periods. It seemed as though I would die with pain in my back and stomach. I could not stand without fainting; had given up all hope of ever being cured, when one of my friends insisted upon my trying Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. With but little faith I tried it, and before I had taken half a bottle I felt better—had better appetite and slept better. Now I am happy to say I am entirely cured, and all done in two months' time, when all other medicines had failed to do any good at all."

Biliousness is cured by the use of De.
